

Copart UK Privacy Policy

Last updated on: 08 October 2007

What This Privacy Policy Covers

- This policy governs the website operated at www.copart.co.uk and the information practices of Copart UK, and Copart, Inc. (“Copart”) its parent corporation based in the United States of America. By providing personal information through this website and to Copart UK you understand and acknowledge that you are providing your personal information to both Copart UK and Copart. Personal information is information about you that is personally identifiable, such as your name, address, email address, or phone number, and that is not otherwise publicly available.
- This policy does not apply to the practices of companies that Copart UK or Copart do not own or control, or to people that Copart UK does not employ or manage.

Information Collection and Use

General

- Copart UK collects personal information when you register with Copart UK and when you use Copart UK services.
- When you register with Copart UK we may ask for information such as your name, address, email address, phone number, credit card information, business licence information, driving licence information, postcode, and other financial information. Once you register with Copart UK and log in to use our services, you are not anonymous to us.
- Copart UK collects information about your transactions with us, including information regarding items you bid on.
- Copart UK automatically receives and records information on our server logs regarding your sessions on Copart UK and Copart websites and those of its subsidiaries, and related cookie information.
- Copart UK uses information for the following general purposes: to contact you, to facilitate bidding, buying, and selling of items by you through Copart UK and Copart, to transfer title and ownership of items bought and sold by you, and to comply with laws and regulations related to purchases and sales of items by you through Copart UK.

Information Sharing and Disclosure

- Copart UK does not rent, sell, or share personal information about you with other people or nonaffiliated companies except to (i) provide products or services you've requested, (ii) when we have your permission, or (iii) under the following circumstances:
 - We provide the information to trusted partners who work on behalf of or with Copart UK under confidentiality agreements and in accordance with law. These companies may use your personal information to help Copart UK communicate with you about offers from Copart UK. However, these companies do not have any independent right to share this information.

- We provide the information in response to subpoenas, court orders, or legal process, or to establish or exercise our legal rights or defend against legal claims, or upon receipt of a request from law enforcement;
- Copart UK does not otherwise share personal information about website users with third parties unless doing so is appropriate to carry out a user's request or it reasonably believes that doing so is legally required or is in Copart UK's interest to protect its property or other legal rights or the rights or property of others;
- We may transfer information about you if Copart UK or Copart is acquired by or merged with another company to the extent permitted by applicable law. In this event, Copart UK will notify you before information about you is transferred and becomes subject to a different privacy policy.
- We transfer information about you to sellers of items purchased by you, to buyers of items sold by you and to their service providers that they may retain to facilitate the assignment of items to Copart UK sales venues, and to governmental agencies when required to facilitate the ownership transfer process.

International Visitors and Customers

- The Copart UK web site is hosted in the United States by Copart on behalf of Copart UK. The U.S.A. has not been determined to provide adequate data protection. However, Copart adheres to the Safe Harbor principles negotiated between the United States and the EU regarding data protection for customer data and personal data Copart UK receives when you register for its services or use its website. Accordingly, when visiting this website or providing personal data to Copart UK, Copart UK has taken steps to ensure the adequate protection of the processing of your personal data in accordance with applicable data protection law.
- Please note that you are transferring your personal data to the United States and by providing your personal data you consent to:
 - the use of your personal data for the purposes identified above in accordance with this privacy policy; and
 - the transfer of your personal data to the United States as indicated above.

Cookies

- We may place a text file called a "cookie" in the browser files of your computer. The cookie itself does not contain personal information although it will enable us to relate your use of this website to information that you have specifically and knowingly provided. But the only personal information a cookie can contain is information you supply yourself. A cookie can't read data off your hard disk or read cookie files created by other websites. Copart UK may use cookies to track user traffic patterns (as described above). In addition, Copart UK uses encrypted cookies to authenticate the user on each page after the user logs onto the website. You can refuse cookies by turning them off in your browser. If you've set your browser to warn you before accepting cookies, you will receive the warning message with each cookie. Some Copart UK features and services may not function properly if your cookies are disabled.

Communications

- We reserve the right to send you certain communications relating to Copart UK services and your account with Copart UK, including but not limited to notifications, service announcements, and administrative messages without offering you the opportunity to opt-out of receiving them

(although we will obtain your consent at the time you create your account). Should you choose not to receive certain communications your access to or use of certain services may not be possible.

Data Storage

- Copart UK may store your account information active in our databases indefinitely following the termination of your account with Copart UK to the maximum extent permitted by law.

Confidentiality and Security

- We limit access to personal information about you to employees who we believe reasonably need to come into contact with that information to provide products or services to you or in order to do their jobs.
- We have physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with federal regulations to protect personal information about you.
- If Copart UK learns of a security systems breach we may attempt to notify you electronically so that you can take appropriate protective steps. By using this website or providing personal information to us you agree that we can communicate with you electronically regarding security, privacy and administrative issues relating to your use of this website. Copart UK may post a notice on our website if a security breach occurs. Copart UK may also send an email to you at the email address you have provided to us in these circumstances. Depending on where you live, you may have a legal right to receive notice of a security breach in writing. To receive free written notice of a security breach (or to withdraw your consent from receiving electronic notice) you should notify us at privacy@copart.uk.com.
- Copart UK takes your security seriously and takes reasonable steps to protect your information. No data transmission over the Internet or information storage technology can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. The following is a summary of the measures Copart UK takes to protect your information and descriptions of ways we implement these measures for different types of information you may provide to us:
 - Secure Socket Layer (SSL)
Copart UK uses SSL (Secure Socket Layer) encryption when transmitting certain kinds of information, such as financial services information or payment information. An icon resembling a padlock is displayed on the bottom of most browsers window during SSL transactions that involve credit cards and other forms of payment. Any time Copart UK asks you for a credit card number for payment or for verification purposes, it will be SSL encrypted. The information you provide will be stored securely on our servers. Once you choose to store or enter your credit card number on Copart UK, it will not be displayed back to you in its entirety when you retrieve or edit it in the future. Instead of the entire number, you will only see asterisks and either the first four digits or the last four digits of your number.
 - Vendors and Partners
Copart UK works with vendors and partners to protect the security and privacy of user information.
 - Employee and Contractor Access to Information
Copart UK limits access to personal information about you to those employees who we reasonably believe need to come into contact with that information to provide products or services to you or in order to do their jobs.
 - Education and Training for Employees
Copart UK has implemented a company-wide education and training program about security that is required of every Copart UK employee.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

- Copart UK may update this policy. When we do, we will also revise the “effective date” on the Privacy Policy. For changes to this privacy policy that may be materially less restrictive on our use or disclosure of personal information you have provided to us, we will attempt to obtain your consent before implementing the change. We encourage you to periodically review this Privacy Policy to stay informed about how we are protecting the Personal Information we collect. Your continued use of this website constitutes your agreement to this Privacy Policy and any updates.

Questions and Suggestions

- If you have questions or suggestions about Copart UK’s Privacy Policy, please contact us at:

Copart UK
privacy@copart.uk.com